Comments: As a result of poor policy and mismanagement, Australians now pay more for gas than do consumers in Asia who buy our gas. This despite Australia being neck-and-neck with Qatar as the world's largest exporter of gas.

There are now so many instances of environmental wrecking that are taking place across Australia that require investigation the level of corruption is laughable. That other individuals and countries should benefit from the destruction of Australian natural environment is unconscionable. Stop. Investigate with honesty. Do your job AEMC.
