Division 4 Arbitration of access disputes

563 Application of this Division

- (1) Without limiting the matters that may be notified under section 216H(1) of the NGL but subject to subrule (2), an access dispute notice may be given to the scheme administrator under this Division in relation to:
 - (a) a request for access to a pipeline service under a new access contract;
 - (b) a request to add a new pipeline service to an existing access contract;
 - (c) a request for a new access contract to take effect on the expiry of an existing access contract; and
 - (d) a request for a pipeline service commencing after the expiry of the service term for the same service under an existing access contract.
- (2) For section 216H(4) of the NGL, the following matters are excluded from reference to arbitration under Chapter 6A of the NGL and this Part:
 - (a) a dispute about a pipeline service provided under an existing access contract;
 - (b) a request to vary the terms and conditions of access applicable to a pipeline service provided under an existing access contract for any part of the current service term for that pipeline service;
 - (c) an access request that would require the extension of a non-scheme pipeline;

 - (e) an access dispute about standard terms and conditions for secondary trading of capacity excluded from the operation of this Part by a provision of the NGL or the Rules.
- (3) For section 216D of the NGL, the matters that may be referred for determination by an arbitrator under this Division include, subject to subrule (2), any dispute arising under any rule in this Division between a service provider for a non-scheme pipeline and a prospective user including any dispute about whether a matter is an access dispute.

564 Access dispute notice

- (1) An access dispute notice is a notice given under section 216H(1) of the NGL under which a prospective user or a service provider gives notice to the scheme administrator that an access dispute exists.

- (2) An access dispute notice must be in writing and must state:
 - (a) the pipeline service to which the access dispute notice relates and where applicable the access request and the access offer made in response to the request;
 - (b) the matters mentioned in section 216H(2) of the NGL, being the matters (if any) on which agreement has been reached and the matters that are in dispute;
 - (c) the name and address of the person giving the notice;
 - (d) the name and address of each other party involved in the access dispute; and
 - (e) where the person giving the access dispute notice reasonably believes another person may be joined as a party under section 216I of the NGL – the name and address of that person.
- (3) An access dispute notice must be given to the other parties to the negotiations under this Part as soon as practicable after it is given to the scheme administrator.
- (4) An access dispute notice must be accompanied by the fee (if any) set by the scheme administrator from time to time and specified on its website.
- (5) If an access dispute notice is given by a prospective user, the prospective user may withdraw the access dispute notice at any time before an arbitrator appointed to determine the dispute makes a final access determination.
- (6) If an access dispute notice is given by a service provider, the service provider may only withdraw the access dispute notice if the other parties to the access dispute agree.

565 Reference to arbitration

- (1) For section 216J of the NGL, the scheme administrator must refer an access dispute to arbitration applying the procedures in this rule and no later than 15 business days after the receipt of the access dispute notice.
- (2) The scheme administrator must within 5 business days of receipt of an access dispute notice determine the parties to the access dispute for the purposes of section 216I of the NGL and give a notice to each party to the access dispute in which the scheme administrator:
 - (a) identifies the parties to the access dispute;
 - (b) invites the parties to the access dispute to give the scheme administrator within 10 business days of the access dispute notice being given written submissions as to which (if any) of the pool arbitrators should be disqualified from appointment, with reasons;
 - (c) requires the parties to the access dispute to notify the scheme administrator of the identity of the pool arbitrator agreed by the parties to determine the access dispute (if any) within 10 business days of the access dispute notice being given; and

- (d) informs the parties that in default of agreement being reached and notified to the scheme administrator within that time, the scheme administrator will select the arbitrator.
- (3) The parties to an access dispute identified in a notice under subrule (2) must:
 - (a) as soon as practicable after an access dispute notice is given notify the other parties to the dispute of at least two pool arbitrators the party will agree to be appointed as the arbitrator to determine the access dispute;
 - (b) negotiate in good faith to agree to the identity of a pool arbitrator to be the arbitrator for the access dispute; and
 - (c) notify the scheme administrator if agreement has been reached, including confirmation that the pool arbitrator is available to undertake the arbitration.
- (4) If the parties to the access dispute do not notify the identity of the pool arbitrator agreed by the parties to determine the access dispute to the scheme administrator within 10 business days of the access dispute notice being given, the scheme administrator must select one of the pool arbitrators to determine the access dispute, taking into account any submissions from the parties under subrule (2)(b) given within the specified time.
- (5) The scheme administrator must refer the access dispute (with the access dispute notice) to the pool arbitrator notified by the parties under subrule (3)(c) or selected by the scheme administrator under subrule (4) within 15 business days after the receipt of the access dispute notice and notify the parties to the access dispute of the referral.
- (6) The scheme administrator's selection of a pool arbitrator to determine an access dispute under subrule (4) is final and binding on the parties to the access dispute.
- (7) An arbitrator is not liable for anything done or omitted to be done in good faith in his or her capacity as arbitrator.
- (8) An arbitrator may, before acting in relation to the access dispute, require each party to the access dispute (and any one of them) to execute a release and indemnity in favour of the arbitrator in relation to any loss, damage or liability that party may suffer or incur as a consequence of anything done or omitted to be done in good faith in his or her capacity as arbitrator.
- (9) If for any reason the arbitrator for an access dispute does not make a final access determination within the time provided for in this Division or withdraws from or abandons the arbitration or is unable to continue the arbitration, any party to the access dispute may notify the other parties and the scheme administrator that they require a new pool arbitrator to be appointed.
- (10) If a notice is given under subrule (9), subject to subrule (11), the scheme administrator must refer the access dispute to a new pool arbitrator no later than 15 business days after the receipt of the notice. Subrules (2) to (9) will apply as if the notice were an access dispute notice for the purposes of this rule.

- (11) If a notice is given under subrule (9) on the grounds that the arbitrator has failed to make a final access determination within the time provided for in this Division and the arbitrator makes the final access determination before the scheme administrator refers the access dispute to a new pool arbitrator, the notice under subrule (9) lapses and the scheme administrator must not refer the access dispute to a new pool arbitrator.

566 Conduct of the parties

- (1) The parties must do all things necessary for the proper and expeditious conduct of the arbitration.
- (2) Without limitation to subrule (1), the parties must comply without undue delay with any order or direction of the arbitrator with respect to any procedural, evidentiary or other matter.
- (3) A party must not wilfully do or cause to be done any act to delay or prevent an access determination being made.

567 Statements to be provided to the arbitrator on appointment

- (1) Within 10 business days of the access dispute being referred to the arbitrator, each party must give to the arbitrator and to the other parties to the access dispute a statement:
 - (a) listing the access negotiation information of the party that the party provided to the other parties to the negotiations before the access dispute notice was given; and
 - (b) identifying with reasonable particularity any other access negotiation information:
 - (i) not provided by the party to the other parties to the negotiations before the access dispute notice was given and that the party seeks leave under rule 568(1) to submit and rely on in the arbitration; and
 - (ii) that the party requested from another party to the negotiations and that has not been provided by that other party.
- (2) Within 15 business days of the access dispute being referred to the arbitrator, each party to the dispute must give to the arbitrator and to the other parties a statement of the access determination the party claims should be made and the matters supporting the party's claim.
- (3) Within the time determined by the arbitrator, each party must give to the arbitrator and to the other parties to the access dispute:
 - (a) its statement in response to the statement provided under subrule (1), which must:
 - (i) identify with reasonable particularity any areas of disagreement; and
 - (ii) state whether it consents to the provision of any of the information identified under subrule (1)(b)(i); and
 - (b) its statement in reply to the statement provided under subrule (2).

- (4) With the leave of the arbitrator, a party may amend or supplement any statement made by the party under this rule during the course of the arbitration.
- (5) A statement under subrule (1) must, if the arbitrator so requires, be verified by statutory declaration of an appropriate officer of the party.

568 Arbitrator to give effect to rule 562

- (1) A party to an access dispute must seek leave of the arbitrator to submit and rely on in the arbitration access negotiation information of that party that it did not provide to the other parties to the negotiations before the access dispute notice was given.
- (2) In determining whether to grant leave under subrule (1), the arbitrator must:
 - (a) seek to give effect to rule 562 insofar as doing so is consistent with the proper consideration of the access dispute; and
 - (b) have regard to whether the party seeking leave was given a reasonable opportunity to provide the access negotiation information to the other parties to the dispute before the access dispute notice was given.
- (3) An arbitrator may direct a party to an access dispute to provide access negotiation information that it did not provide to the other parties to the negotiations before the access dispute notice was given. A party given a direction under this subrule must comply with the direction without undue delay.
- (4) If the arbitrator is satisfied that there has been inordinate and inexcusable failure by a party to comply with the obligation of the party to provide access negotiation information in accordance with rule 562 or subrule (3) or if a party fails to do any other thing necessary for the proper and expeditious conduct of the arbitration, the arbitrator may do any one or more of the following:
 - (a) direct that the party is not entitled to rely on any specified information or materials;
 - (b) draw such adverse inferences from the failure to comply as the circumstances justify; and
 - (c) proceed to an access determination solely on the basis of information relied on by that party that has been provided by that party in negotiations under this Part in accordance with rule 562.

569 Pricing and other principles

- (1) When making a final access determination under this Part, the arbitrator must take the following matters into account:
 - (a) the principle that access to pipeline services on a non-scheme pipeline must be on reasonable terms as defined in rule 546(1);
 - (b) the pricing principles; and
 - (c) the operational and technical requirements necessary for the safe and reliable operation of the pipeline.

- (2) When making a final access determination under this Part, the arbitrator may also take the following matters into account:
 - (a) the legitimate business interests of the service provider;
 - (b) the interests of all persons who have rights to use the pipeline;
 - (c) the value to the service provider of any extension or expansion of the pipeline the cost of which is borne by another person; and
 - (d) the value to the service provider of interconnections to the pipeline the cost of which is borne by another person.

- (3) The pricing principles are:
 - (a) the price for access to a pipeline service on a non-scheme pipeline should reflect the cost of providing that service, including a commercial rate of return that is commensurate with the prevailing conditions in the market for funds and reflects the risks the service provider faces in providing the pipeline service; and
 - (b) when applying the principle in paragraph (a) to a pipeline service that when used affects the capacity of the non-scheme pipeline available for other pipeline services and is priced at a premium or a discount to the price for a firm haulage service on the relevant non-scheme pipeline – the premium or discount must:
 - (i) take into account any opportunity cost or benefit to the service provider of providing the pipeline service, having regard to any effect on the cost of providing firm haulage services or the capacity of the non-scheme pipeline; and
 - (ii) be consistent with the price for the pipeline service providing a reasonable contribution to joint and common costs.

- (4) For the purposes of subrule (3)(a):
 - (a) the value of any assets used in the provision of the pipeline service must be determined using asset valuation techniques consistent with the objective of this Part set out in rule 546(1); and
 - (b) unless inconsistent with paragraph (a), the value of any assets used in the provision of the pipeline service is to be calculated as:
 - (i) the cost of construction of the pipeline and pipeline assets incurred before commissioning of the pipeline (including the cost of acquiring easements and other interests in land necessary for the establishment and operation of the pipeline);
plus:
 - (ii) the amount of capital expenditure since the commissioning of the pipeline;
 - less:
 - (iii) the return of capital recovered since the commissioning of the pipeline; and

- (iv) the value of pipeline assets disposed of since the commissioning of the pipeline.

570 Matters that may be dealt with in a determination

- (1) For section 216L(2) of the NGL, subject to section 216N of the NGL and this rule, an access determination may deal with any matter the subject of the access dispute.
- (2) Without limiting subrule (1), an access determination may:
 - (a) require the service provider for a non-scheme pipeline to provide access to a pipeline service;
 - (b) specify the price and other terms and conditions on which the prospective user must be given access to the pipeline service;
 - (c) require the service provider to permit another facility to be connected to the non-scheme pipeline;
 - (d) subject to subrules (5) and (6), require the service provider to carry out, either alone or in combination:
 - (i) an expansion of the capacity of a non-scheme pipeline;
 - (ii) a conversion of a non-scheme pipeline to a bi-directional pipeline;
 - (iii) the development of a new receipt or delivery point;
 - (iv) an expansion of an existing receipt or delivery point; or
 - (v) an interconnection with another pipeline or other facility; or
 - (e) specify conditions to be satisfied before access to a pipeline service commences.
- (3) An access determination may require access to be provided for a service term different to that sought by the prospective user but must otherwise be made in relation to the pipeline service or services sought by the prospective user.
- (4) An access determination does not have to require the service provider to provide access to the pipeline service or services sought by the prospective user or any pipeline service.
- (5) An access determination must not require the service provider to provide a pipeline service or carry out any of the activities referred to in subrule (2)(d) unless the provision of the pipeline service or activity is:
 - (i) technically feasible; and
 - (ii) consistent with the safe and reliable operation of the pipeline.
- (6) An access determination must not, unless the service provider agrees, require the service provider to:
 - (a) extend the geographical range of a non-scheme pipeline; or
 - (b) carry out any of the activities referred to in subrule (2)(d) unless the prospective user funds the activity in its entirety.

- (7) An access determination must not provide for a prospective user to acquire an interest in a non-scheme pipeline by funding an expansion of the capacity of the pipeline unless the service provider agrees.

571 Interim access determinations (NGL section 199(2))

- (1) An interim access determination that provides for access to a pipeline service before the final access determination is made must specify the terms and conditions on which the prospective user must be given access to the pipeline service including reasonable payment terms.
- (2) If an arbitrator makes an interim access determination that provides for access to a pipeline service before the final access determination is made, the final access determination must provide for adjustments to reflect any differences between the interim access determination and the final access determination in respect of the period:
 - (a) prior to the prospective user gaining access on the terms of the final access determination; or
 - (b) if the prospective user does not elect to seek access on the terms of the final access determination – prior to access on the terms of the interim access determination ceasing under rule 573(5)(b).
- (3) An interim access determination must:
 - (a) be in writing and dated and signed by the arbitrator;
 - (b) identify the parties to the interim access determination and the place the determination is made;
 - (c) be communicated by email when it is made to the parties to the access dispute and the scheme administrator; and
 - (d) be sent by post to the parties and the scheme administrator within 5 business days of being made.
- (4) An interim access determination takes effect from the later of the time specified in the access determination and the time it is communicated to the parties to the access dispute.

572 Final access determinations

- (1) Unless it terminates the arbitration under the NGL and subject to subrule (2), the arbitrator must determine the access dispute as quickly as possible, and in any case the arbitrator must make a final access determination within:
 - (a) 50 business days after the date the access dispute was referred to the arbitrator; or
 - (b) if agreed by the parties to the access dispute, any greater number of business days, up to a maximum of 90 business days, after the date the access dispute was referred to the arbitrator.
- (2) In determining the number of business days elapsed since the date the access dispute was referred to the arbitrator, the following must be disregarded:

- (a) if the arbitrator appoints an independent expert in accordance with rule 575 – any day within a period allowed by the arbitrator for the independent expert to report and that the arbitrator directs must be disregarded; and
 - (b) any day within a period allowed by the arbitrator for a party to prepare access negotiation information not provided in negotiations and that the arbitrator directs must be disregarded.
- (3) A final access determination must:
- (a) be in writing and dated and signed by the arbitrator;
 - (b) identify the parties to the determination and the place the determination is made;
 - (c) set out the matters agreed by the parties and the matters in dispute;
 - (d) set out the arbitrator's determination of the access dispute;
 - (e) be communicated by email when it is made to the parties to the access dispute and the scheme administrator; and
 - (f) be sent by post to the parties and the scheme administrator within 5 business days of being made.
- (4) The arbitrator must give the parties and the scheme administrator a statement of reasons for the arbitrator's final access determination, which must explain how the arbitrator took into account the principles and other matters in rule 569. The statement of reasons must be given to the parties and the scheme administrator with the final access determination or within 20 business days of the final access determination being made.

573 Effect of final access determination

- (4) If the prospective user gives a notice under subrule (3), the parties to the access dispute must enter into an access contract for the provision of access in accordance with the final access determination (as may have been corrected under rule 579).
- (5) If a prospective user does not give a notice under subrule (3) within the period specified in that subrule:
 - (a) the prospective user and any associate of the prospective user must not give an access dispute notice about the same or a substantially similar pipeline service on the non-scheme pipeline the subject of the final access determination for a period of one year from the date of the final access determination; and

- (b) if the prospective user had access under the terms of an interim access determination, that access ends at the end of that period.
- (6) The parties to an access dispute must comply with a final access determination to the extent it provides for adjustments under rule 571(2), even if the prospective user does not give a notice under subrule (3).

- (2) The arbitrator must as soon as practicable after the arbitrator's appointment and after consultation with the parties to the access dispute, notify the parties of the procedures and timetable to apply to the arbitration. The arbitrator may in the arbitrator's discretion amend the procedures specified by the arbitrator during the course of the arbitration.

- (2) Unless otherwise agreed by the parties, if a party so requests or if the arbitrator considers it necessary, the independent expert must, after delivery of the expert's written or oral report, participate in a hearing where the parties have the opportunity to put questions to the expert and present expert witnesses in order to testify on the points at issue.
- (3) Before appointing an independent expert under subrule (1), the arbitrator must:

- (4) A party to an access dispute must not unreasonably withhold its consent under subrule (3)(b).

 - (b) in the case of a party, to a professional or other adviser of the party who agrees to maintain the confidentiality of the confidential information;
 - (c) in the case of the arbitrator, to an independent expert appointed by the arbitrator who agrees to maintain the confidentiality of the confidential information;
 - (d) if it is necessary to ensure that a party has a reasonable opportunity to present the party's case and the disclosure is no more than reasonable for that purpose;

 - (ii) if the arbitrator is making the disclosure – all the parties.

577 Conflict of interest

- (1) In this rule, there are justifiable doubts as to the impartiality or independence of a pool arbitrator or arbitrator to whom an access dispute has been referred only if there is a real danger of bias on the part of the person in conducting the arbitration.
- (2) A pool arbitrator approached in connection with the pool arbitrator's possible appointment to determine an access dispute must disclose any circumstances likely to give rise to justifiable doubts as to the pool arbitrator's impartiality or independence.
