

M. Davies Mill Park 3082 Victoria

27 March 2014

Privatisation of the retail power sector was introduced to provide a competitive market. Contracts are anti-competitive especially when they impose obligations on the customer but not on the retailer. Therefore the customer must be given the right to change their retailer whenever they choose. Just as I can change my hairdresser whenever I choose. This is true competition!